My Personal View of Hawaii—

Why has Hawaii remained the most popular distant vacation destination for American travelers? Because Hawaii, in my opinion, offers and delivers more pure-vacation pleasures than any other place I know. This is the ideal destination for fun and relaxation. The weather, for example, is balmy and delightful twelve months of the year—there are no prolonged rainy or stormy periods. The year around average temperature is about 75°! Hawaii really deserves to be called the Paradise of the Pacific.

The five principal islands offer a surprising variety of natural beauty and modern development. Oahu is the island on which Honolulu and Waikiki are situated. Honolulu, a sophisticated Pacific metropolis, is a fascinating blend of old and new. Here excitement and languor are happily wed—a place where the visitor can dwell in modern splendor, step out on lovely Waikiki Beach to swim, surf or ride a sloping comber in an outrigger canoe—or step the other way to shopping, dining and entertainment, island or mainland style. And everywhere flowers, fragrance and friendliness abound.

The neighbor islands are a special joy, the places where Polynesian traditions and charm are still part of everyday life. Oh, you are not likely to find barefoot Hawaiians in muu-muus and lava-lavas living in grass shacks and casting their nets out into the sea, but you will find the color, the warm friendliness and the endearing and enduring spirit of aloha.

The sheer beauty is something to behold. The Garden Island of Kauai seems all lush greenery accented with a profusion of colorful tropical blossoms. The Valley Island of Maui is the one where you can loll on the great Kaanapali Beach and watch humpback whales roll and blow in the Molokai Channel offshore. The Big Island of Hawaii is the place where orchids and anthurium grow in profusion in the Hilo area, where you can sightsee an occasionally active volcano, or unwind on the Kona Coast, once the special preserve of Hawaiian monarchs. And, the Friendly Island of Molokai is serene and quiet. The perfect spot to simply relax.

In a completely practical view, I would like to comment on Island prices. Many returning visitors will tell you that things cost more in the Islands than at home. If you are buying a house or renting an apartment, yes. If you are booking a hotel room, eating out, buying clothes, enjoying entertainment—no! For comparable quality and style most prices are about the same as on the Mainland. The truth is that visitors tend to "live it up" each day of their vacation in ways they would seldom enjoy at home. If you eat out three times a day at top quality restaurants at home you would rightfully expect to pay some substantial bills. That's exactly the way it is in the islands. Your low cost alternatives tend to be limited in the neighbor islands because you're in the "country," away from the variety available in the city. In Honolulu, however, you have an almost infinite choice of styles and prices, as you do in every major city on the Mainland.

For over 50 years Cartan has planned and introduced an ever-expanding variety of island vacations. I have a continuing enthusiasm for Hawaii and am confident that you will find in the pages that follow, the island vacation that is just right for you.

I hope that you will join us and then share our special affection for these islands.

Aloha Nui Loa,

G. T. Giesler

The Cartan Experience

"We've Been There"

Cartan travel has been providing memorable tours for more than 75 years. During this period, Cartan has arranged and conducted trips for more than 800,000 vacationers. Naturally, Cartan has developed preferred working relationships with the world's finest hotels, having booked more than 1,200,000 deluxe and superior rooms. Cartan also works with United Airlines and other leading airlines, which have flown Cartan passengers on almost 1½ million flights totaling billions of miles.

Your Cartan Escort

Perhaps the most significant difference between Cartan and other tour operators is the Cartan tour escort. This year, many of Cartan's escorts are five year veterans. They have the training distilled through three-quarters of a century's experience that has graduated 1,400 escorts in the art of helping travelers.

Cartan escorts are people who have been raised and educated with mainland attitudes and tastes. Although they have learned the island customs through months and years of residence, they retain an understanding of a visitor's needs and expectations. So they are able to anticipate your desires, and show you the Hawaii you have chosen to see.

Your Cartan escort handles all the luggage and reconfirms all connecting and return flights, and pre-registers you in each hotel. He checks you in and out of each hotel, attending to special requests, such as a king size bed. He not only briefs you on the day's activities, but alerts you to the next day's events, and posts bulletins in several designated places.

Because he is your Cartan Escort, he is never more than a phone call away, to answer any questions about dining, entertainment or shopping; and he handles any special requests you may have.

So you travel without a moment's concern about reservations, room locations, flights, connections, luggage, or any of the other hassles that make the difference between an ordinary vacation and an unforgettable one.

Small Groups See And Do More

We have found that our policy of limited size groups is the ideal way to help you avoid the feeling that you're one of many. You'll soon get to know your fellow travelers, many of whom share your interests. Quite often, we are told, Cartan Tours lead to lifelong friendships.

You're On A Vacation, Not a Drill

It can't be much of a vacation if you feel regimented in your activities. That's why Cartan doesn't force you into a continuous program of group activity. Our sightseeing excursions are beautifully planned, and truly rewarding, but there's plenty of free time to cut out on your own with family or friends.

Vacation Variety

You will notice the considerable range of costs in the vacations that we offer. There are many reasons for this wide range of pricing in our programs. The cost of any tour is determined by several factors: the number of nights spent in hotels, the hotel room category, the number of meals included and the number of sightseeing trips and other special features included.

Our 14-day Hawaiian Islands Deluxe Vacation is one of the ultimate island vacations on the market today. It features Deluxe Ocean View rooms, gourmet dining, superlative sightseeing and dozens of amenities that make it extra special and, therefore, more costly. The 14 day LEI tour, on the other hand, features Superior rooms and excellent basic sightseeing but meals have not been included so that you can eat as extravagantly or modestly as you please.

Our OnaOna and Pokole vacations feature Superior rooms and excellent sightseeing but since they include fewer hotel nights they are priced lower than the two week tours.

In every case, the "above the line" descriptions in this brochure for each vacation will specify clearly what is included, the category of rooms, number of meals and sightseeing. Please refer to page 37 for sample air fares from your city. For further information and details please contact your Travel Agent.

Two weeks, 11 days or 1 week vacation? The choice is yours

In most cases the basic airfare to Hawaii is the same for any stay from 4 to 14 or 21 days or more. It is fair to assume that most travelers would prefer to expand their time in pleasant, new surroundings. Some simply cannot do so, for lack of time or means. The shorter programs have been designed for these travelers.

In the shorter vacations we have included those things which we have found to be on most travelers' want-lists. That is not to say a longer tour would not be more rewarding or that the shorter tour is just as rewarding. We recommend the longer tours for those who have the time and inclination.

Could a short tour be disappointing or unfulfilling? Possible, but unlikely. A very wise and widely traveled man once said: "It is better to take them away looking longingly back over their shoulders then to stay too long and have them get restless." In other words, a value judgment must be made in every case—a judgment that considers cost, time available, tolerance for travel and special interests. Short or long, the tours are carefully arranged to please the discriminating traveler.

Meal in Hawaii

With such marvelous racial and ethnic mixture in the islands, it is little wonder that dining is often an adventure and a pleasure—to the eye as well as the taste.

From the practical standpoint do bear in mind that very little of the food is produced locally—most of it arrives by ship or plane from the Mainland U.S., New Zealand, Australia, or the Orient. Do not be surprised, therefore, if the menu prices are a little higher than those you're accustomed to seeing at home.

In Waikiki, the variety and the price range is wide—from McDonald's on Kalakaua Avenue to Canlis' to the Maile Terrace. Here are a few clues: breakfast in your hotel will probably average $5.00 luncheon about $6.50, and dinner about $12.00—all plus tip and tax. If you go out to dinner at a gourmet restaurant, your meal will cost $15-$20, liquor and wine additional. You will find many popular-price places in the Waikiki area serving breakfasts for $2.50, lunches for $3-3.50 and dinners for $5-7.

In the neighbor islands the resort hotels used may not be handy to alternatives, and you will encounter hotel dining room prices similar to those in Honolulu. Often the neighbor island hotels have snack-bars or poolside service featuring light lunches. Some hotels, such as Kona Hilton, are within walking distance of the village where a number of alternatives are available. Generally speaking, neighbor island meal expenses are likely to be higher than in Honolulu, simply because you are not usually close to towns or lower cost restaurants.

Cartan offers a variety of tours with meals included and some without meals. In the latter case you are free to dine when and where you please. In any case the tour description will specify exactly how many meals are included.

HAWAIIAN HOTEL ROOM CATEGORIES

Cartan tour members stay in fine hotels throughout the islands. The features of each vacation package located above the itinerary description shows the room category used and the number of nights vacationing at each hotel.

STANDARD ROOM: the basic and least expensive accommodation in the hotel. Appointments are of excellent quality but the location may not appeal to those who value an outward view.

SUPERIOR ROOM: pleasant, attractively furnished, typically with a mountain view—usually on a middle or lower level.

DELUXE ROOM: considered the best in the house. It usually provides a view of the ocean, bay or coastline, is typically large, very attractively furnished and has a lanai—often located on the upper floor level.

SURF DELUXE ROOM (Surf Hotels): accommodations have the best ocean views, and the finest in decorator appointments to go with the most desirable locations and in-room amenities.

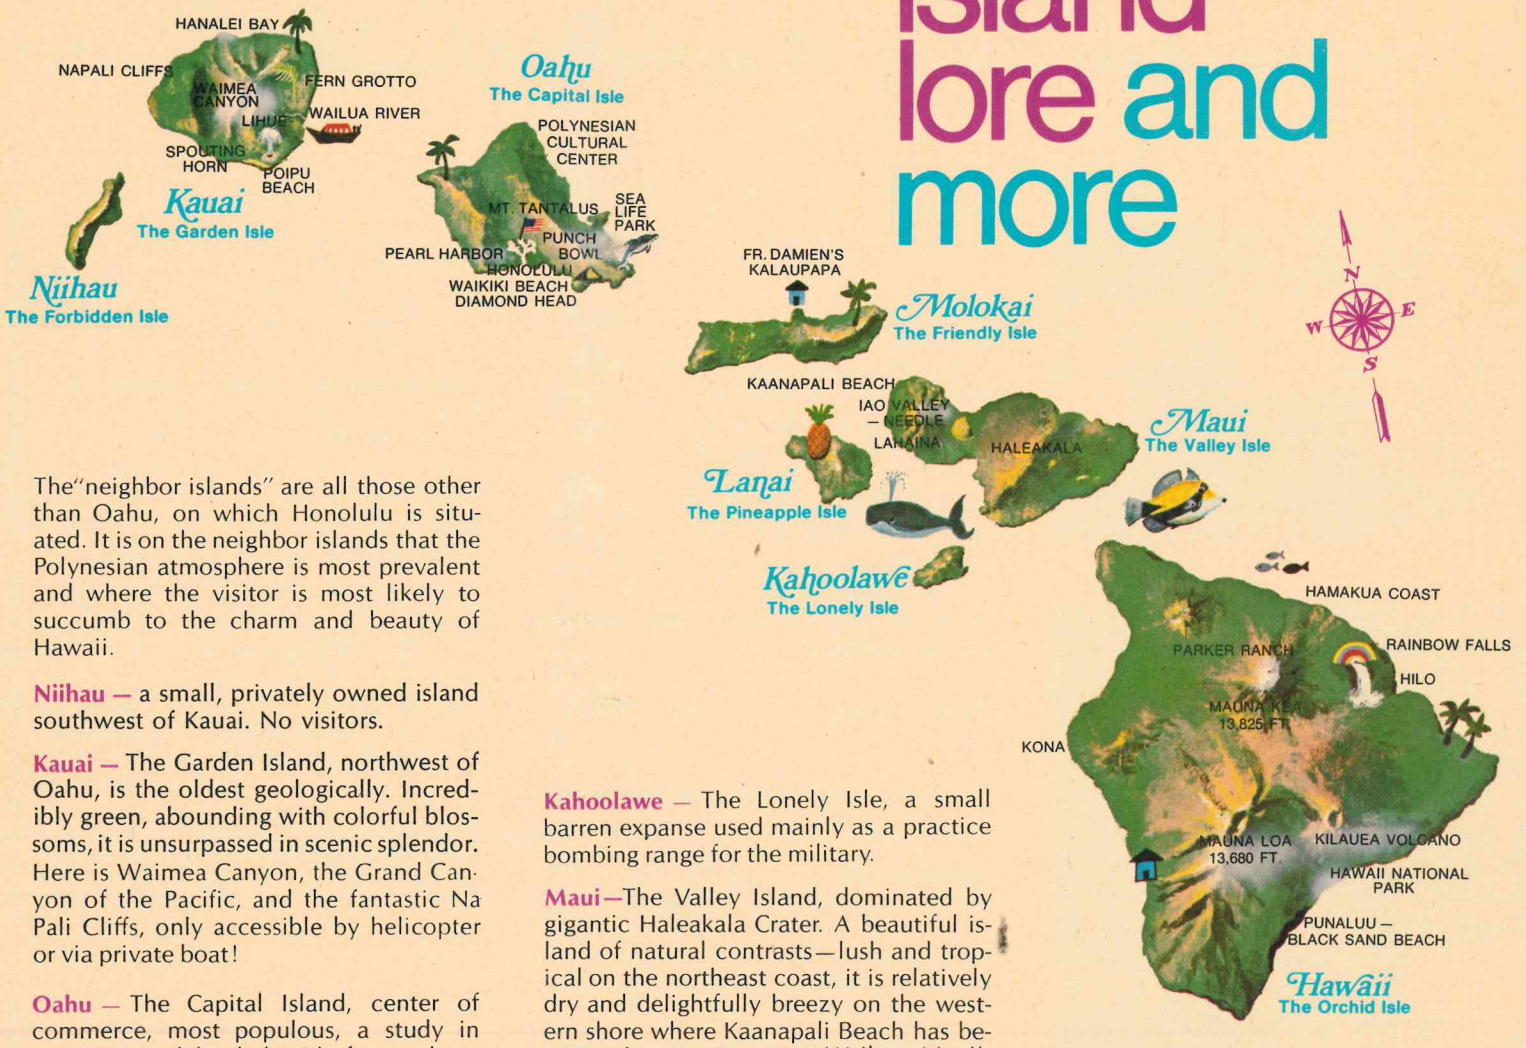
island lore and more



The "neighbor islands" are all those other than Oahu, on which Honolulu is situated. It is on the neighbor islands that the Polynesian atmosphere is most prevalent and where the visitor is most likely to succumb to the charm and beauty of Hawaii.

Niihau — a small, privately owned island southwest of Kauai. No visitors.

Kauai — The Garden Island, northwest of Oahu, is the oldest geologically. Incredibly green, abounding with colorful blossoms, it is unsurpassed in scenic splendor. Here is Waimea Canyon, the Grand Canyon of the Pacific, and the fantastic Na Pali Cliffs, only accessible by helicopter or via private boat!

Oahu — The Capital Island, center of commerce, most populous, a study in contrasts and loaded with fun and excitement. Waikiki Beach—shopping for colorful Hawaiian fashions and imports from the South Pacific in hundreds of fascinating shops. Evenings call for decisions: gourmet dining or native luau—dancing to polynesian music or the now sounds of today—nightclubbing with island entertainment or international stars. And scenery: the Pali, Diamond Head, Windward Oahu or simply look around you. And history: Pearl Harbor and Iolani Palace to mention a few. And attractions: the Polynesian Cultural Center on the far side, Sea Life Park, Chinatown or just a leisurely stroll down Kalakaua Avenue in the center of Waikiki. Sophisticated, yes—but without formality.

Molokai — The Friendly Island, east of Oahu, spectacularly scenic on the western coast. Site of the isolated Kalaupapa Peninsula where Father Damien's leper colony still functions.

Lanai — The Pineapple Island, south of Molokai, west of Maui, its economy is based almost exclusively on the pineapple. It is really a huge plantation.

Kahoolawe — The Lonely Isle, a small barren expanse used mainly as a practice bombing range for the military.

Maui—The Valley Island, dominated by gigantic Haleakala Crater. A beautiful island of natural contrasts—lush and tropical on the northeast coast, it is relatively dry and delightfully breezy on the western shore where Kaanapali Beach has become the resort center. Wailea, Maui's newest resort area, is located on the southern shore.

Hawaii — The Orchid Island, famed for its gorgeous blooms, is the southernmost and easternmost island—it is also the youngest and one of its distinctions is the rather unusual but predictable reaction of its residents and neighbors when a volcano rumbles and spews fire, smoke, lava and ash—they come rushing to see the show! The Kona District was once the special preserve of Hawaiian monarchs and now a great visitor center with fine hotels and wonderful weather.

A beautiful plumeria!

What to Wear in the Islands

Except for a mere handful of elegant dining rooms in Honolulu, everything is strictly casual, day and night. Colorful resort wear is "de rigeur." Men "live" in slacks or shorts, aloha or sports shirts, soft-soled shoes or sandals. Women wear colorful resort costumes of every description.

Most restaurants and nightclub patrons will be strictly informal, even in the evening. Men frequently wear just slacks and an aloha shirt—some don a sport jacket over the shirt. Ladies will want to bring one or two dressy outfits for special nights out in Waikiki.

Cartan's Seasonal Savings

As with most businesses in this world, we traditionally experience certain periods that, for many reasons, are not as popular as the rest of the year. For example, from Thanksgiving week through the first half of December, people are so busy with holiday and family activities that they don't think of traveling. Fortunately, these traditionally slow dates are not related to unpleasant weather in Hawaii—Hawaii's weather is so constant that it remains balmy and delightful all year long! And, travel during these "slow periods" provides an added bonus — Hawaii is less crowded during these times.

In an attempt to promote travel during these periods, Cartan is offering Seasonal Savings on selected programs ranging from $15 to$35 per person. You'll find the amount of the Seasonal Savings for each tour specified in the Tour Cost box. Seasonal Savings are effective for departures from April 16 through June 4, August 28 through September 22 and November 23 through December 15.

We hope you will want to visit Hawaii during those periods when the tourist population is usually less but the weather is still prime and the attractions identical, all at a lower cost!

Our deluxe flight bag and tour credentials are very complete and informative. Your passport case will be packed full with itineraries, maps, travel and packing tips, luggage tags, and many other useful items. Your travel counsellor will have these available for you in advance of your departure.

Cartan and United Airlines invite you to fly to Our Little Corner of the World

Cartan and United Airlines have joined to provide you with the finest tour value and service available to the Islands.

Cartan offers weekly departures to Hawaii for 8, 11, and 14 day vacations. Each group departure offers a wide variety of prices, accommodations and special features to suit any Hawaiian visitor's desires, each one utilizing the lowest air fares available. Plus, free stopovers are allowed in selected West Coast cities, if you wish.

You'll experience United's famous Royal Hawaiian Service presented by Hawaiian trained inflight crews, many of whom live or come from Hawaii.

United serves the Islands with the largest 747 fleet of daily departures from mainland cities. These daily 747 friendships are supplemented by DC8's during peak travel periods, providing the same Royal Hawaiian Service to all passengers in wide or narrow bodied aircraft.

You enjoy substantial savings on the air transportation of your Hawaiian vacation utilizing special group fares. However, multi-stop flights and changing of aircraft are used at times in conjunction with these special fares. Also, group fares have certain travel restrictions such as reservations and ticketing time limits. Specific flight itineraries and departure times, under normal circumstances, are not confirmed by the air carrier prior to 30 days before departure.

You may also elect to fly to Hawaii on scheduled service on the airline of your choice. In that case, your air fare will vary and will generally be higher than the Group fares listed for reference purposes in this folder. In any case, simply convey your preference to your travel agent and he will make all your arrangements.

Travelers may use any regularly scheduled carrier member of ATC or IATA. Any additional expenses incurred by deviating from the approved patterns must be borne by the patron.

Transportation—Hotels: These air tours are operated in connection with various regularly scheduled air carriers, hotels and various independent companies providing local transportation and guide facilities, none of which are owned or controlled by Cartan Travel Bureau, Inc.

Printed in U.S.A. 12/27/79 thru 1/18/81 790720.900

Baggage Damage sustained while property is in the custody of an airline, shipline, hotel, bus company or transfer company cannot be the responsibility of Cartan Travel.

Insurance: We recommend the purchase of luggage insurance which is inexpensive, and may be obtained from your travel agent since Cartan Travel Bureau, Inc., cannot accept responsibility for safe handling. We likewise recommend personal accident insurance.

Tour Costs quoted in this folder are based on airline fares quoted in CAB approved tariffs current at time of printing and are subject to changes in such tariffs that are in effect at time of travel. All confirmations and billings are subject to increases or decreases in effect at time of travel.

Refunds: Any claims for refunds for unused services will be handled through booking agent. No refunds can be made for omitted sightseeing, meals, or absence from tour programs for a period less than TWO CONSECUTIVE FULL DAYS and then only for any net savings effected.

Cancellation—Tour Portion: A $50.00 per person cancellation fee must be charged to offset administration and operational costs when the cancellation, regardless of reason, is received in Cartan's Rolling Meadows, Illinois office after final payment due date. In addition, any non-refundable expenses incurred on traveler's behalf for hotels, carriers or ground services at destination will be charged. Cancellations, charges or rebooks received within 30 days of departure are subject to substantial cancellation charges as assessed by the hotels. Should the assessment of a cancellation fee become necessary Cartan will issue a non-transferable voucher in the amount of $50.00 per person. This voucher may be applied to any Cartan tour/vacation taken within 24 months of the initially scheduled departure date. If it becomes necessary for Cartan to cancel a scheduled tour departure after the final payment due date, all deposits and payments will be refunded plus a $50.00 per person cancellation voucher which may be applied to any Cartan tour taken within 24 months of the departure date of the cancelled tour. A $15.00 per person charge will be levied to offset material and postage expenses if cancellation is received after tour credentials and documents have been sent.

Reservations/Partial Payment: Formal confirmations will only be made upon receipt in Cartan's home office of $150.00 per person for one week vacations and $200.00 per person on all other vacations. Reservations made 35-days or less prior to departure require immediate full payment.

Final Payment:* Due in Cartan's home office at least 35 days before departure. Reservations still unpaid 7 days before departure are automatically cancelled—no partial payment refunded.

*Uncollected funds do not constitute partial or final payment.

Tour Documents: Tour Documents and flight bags will be mailed prior to departure and after receipt of deposit.

Cancellation Rule-Airline Tickets: When passage based on a group fare is cancelled or terminated by a passenger of his own volition less than 30 days before commencement of travel refund will be 75 percent of the fare paid. If cancellation is due to the death or illness of a passenger or member of his immediate family, supported by a medical certificate, full refund will be made for the air portion unused. When passage is cancelled or terminated by a passenger of his own volition after commencement of the travel, refund will be 75 percent of the difference, if any, between the group fare paid and the applicable normal fare for the transportation used by the passenger. If such cancellation is due to the death or illness of a passenger or member of his immediate family, supported by a medical certificate, refund will be the difference, if any, between the group fare paid by the passenger and the applicable normal fare for the transportation used by the passenger.

Air Fares: Air fares shown herein are based on Tourist Class group fares quoted in CAB approved tariffs current at time of printing and are subject to changes in such tariffs that are in effect at time of travel. Should the group size fail to meet the required number passengers may be accommodated at adjusted rates. Consult your travel agent for the air fare that best fits your travel needs.

Membership: Tour membership is open to all individuals and will not be withheld if the company can reasonably accommodate any special requirements which an individual traveler may have. Should meeting such special requirements materially add to the company's costs, the traveler will be expected to bear the additional expense.

Single Travelers: Single travelers desiring to share a room with another tour member can only be booked on a "Single-share if possible" basis. The single rate must be paid in advance but if we are able to find suitable roommate the supplementary charge will be refunded upon completion of the tour.

Triple Accommodations: Triple accommodations will be quoted upon request with the understanding that in most cases the accommodations for the third party will be a rollaway, fold-down single bed or a convertible sofa-bed added to a conventional twin-bedroom for nighttime use. This type of accommodation, while more economical than the alternative double and separate single, tends to be crowded and therefore is not recommended by Cartan.
